Hidden Rivers: Feature Film Screenings in Knoxville

Film highlighting the striking beauty and wildly diverse critters living in Tennessee creeks

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.— Knox County Stormwater and TVA are sponsoring two screenings of an hour-long film about the underwater secrets of Tennessee creeks. The film, Hidden Rivers, takes an immersive look at the incredible biodiversity right here in our southern Appalachian waters.

Fish, mussels, salamanders, crayfish and other little-known creatures call these waters home. The film reveals how some Southerners are finding new ways to explore and celebrate this precious life while reminding us that biodiversity is everywhere and rivers are always deeper than you think! Concealed beneath the rivers and streams of Southern Appalachia resides some of the greatest celebrations of freshwater life found on this planet.

Get your tickets now to view the film at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 30, 2019, at Central Cinema (1205 N. Central Street) or at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 16, 2019, at Scruffy City Hall (18 Market Square).
