Mayor Jacobs to Lead Harley's 'Ride for Kids' with Rusty Wallace

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Kickstands go up for the Harley-Davidson 'Glenn Jacobs' Ride for Kids' at 11 a.m. on Saturday, July 23. Knox County Mayor Glenn Jacobs and NASCAR Hall of Famer Rusty Wallace will lead the ride, which benefits East Tennessee Children's Hospital.

Interested participants can register ($20) on site at Clinton Highway Harley-Davidson beginning at 10 a.m.

The route is 53-miles long and weaves through both Knox and Anderson counties with a rest and refreshments at Andersonville Church (3949 Andersonville Hwy), a shopping opportunity at Biker Rags (800 Clinch Ave., Clinton), and drive through/stop in options at Range USA (112200 Outlet Drive, Knoxville). Door prize tickets will be distributed to each rider at every stop.

The ride ends at Bootlegger Harley-Davidson (605 Lovell Road) where live music from Southern Steel and door prize drawings will start at 1 p.m.
