KCHD's next Diabetes Management Series starts April 10

Knoxville, Tenn. – The Knox County Health Department's (KCHD) next Diabetes Management Series takes place Tuesdays, April 10, 17 and 24, from 6 to 7 p.m. at KCHD, 140 Dameron Ave. KCHD offers the free, three-part series quarterly to help those affected by the disease.

"We'll discuss valuable management tools for both those who have been newly diagnosed and those who have dealt with type 2 diabetes for years. We strive to help our participants understand what affects their blood sugar and why," said Shanthi Appelo, KCHD nutritionist and registered dietitian. "As always, we encourage attendees to bring their spouse, caregiver or friend to the classes because a strong support system can make all the difference."

Those with Type 2 diabetes or pre-diabetes are encouraged to attend. Parking is free. Those interested should call 865-215-5170 or visit surveymonkey.com/r/DMSApril2018 to register.

Having diabetes is a risk factor for developing serious health complications including heart disease, blindness, kidney failure and lower-extremity amputations. In 2014, the most recent available data, it was estimated that 10.5 percent of Knox County adults (18+ years) have been diagnosed with the disease. Diabetes is the seventh leading cause of death in the U.S. and the eighth leading cause of death in Knox County. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, if current trends continue, as many as 1 out of 3 U.S. adults could have diabetes by 2050.

Due to the prevalence of this disease, KCHD also provides several prevention programs aimed at reducing diabetes rates, including the Nutrition Education Activity Training \(N.E.A.T.\) after-school program, the walking school bus program, worksite wellness initiatives, breastfeeding promotion and advocacy, community engagement programs, and others.

About Knox County Health Department
